For this edition, Art African Excellensitys will donate a portion of the funds raised to the NGO Ndako Wa Bana in Kinshasa and the NGO Green Community.

A donation of €2,000 will be given to Ndako ya Bana in Kinshasa, Democratic Republic of Congo.

Ndako ya Bana, an initiative led by the non-profit organization of the same name, has been committed since 2016 to providing quality education to underprivileged children in Kinshasa. Carefully selected from orphanages, centers for single mothers, and children with disabilities, forty children currently benefit from comprehensive educational support. Following the creation of a Montessori school accessible to the most disadvantaged, the organization now ensures their schooling in a private school while also providing them with a hot meal daily, homework help, and cultural or sporting activities every Saturday. True to its mission, Ndako ya Bana continues to transform lives through the power of education and solidarity.

A donation of €2,000 will be awarded to Green Community in Abidjan, Ivory Coast.

Green Community is a non-governmental organization (NGO) founded in 2018 and reinvented in 2024, working at the intersection of art, education, and the environment. Based in Abidjan, Ivory Coast, it promotes a sustainable future by valuing creative and innovative solutions for waste management, while supporting the empowerment of women, youth, and children. Convinced that art is a force for social transformation, Green Community combines the beauty of recycled art with concrete actions to protect the planet. Among its flagship projects are: • The Green Women Agro Center, a program for the economic empowerment of women through organic farming. • The Center for Women's Empowerment through Arts and Crafts, which promotes inclusion and creativity as drivers of sustainable development.

This initiative is part of Art African Excellensitys' ongoing commitment to educational projects in Africa, thereby contributing to the empowerment of women through access to education.

A vision for African artistic excellence

Art is one of the most beautiful expressions of human freedom.

It transcends borders, recounting lived experiences, human emotions, and stories that books do not always capture, while building bridges where others see differences.

In becoming the official patron of Art African Excellensitys 2027, I sought to support far more than just an art fair. I chose to champion a vision: that of showcasing the talents of the African continent, its diasporas, and the Caribbean, while fostering connections between cultures, generations, and institutions.

Africa is a continent of creativity, innovation, entrepreneurship, and excellence. Its artists offer unique perspectives on the world, question our times, pass on memories, raise awareness, and open up new horizons.

This fair serves as a magnificent showcase for this richness. It offers artists a space for expression, invites visitors to explore, and gives everyone the opportunity to build bridges between peoples through culture.

Deeply attached to the province of Liège, I also wish to help make Liège a welcoming hub for major international cultural, artistic, and entrepreneurial gatherings. Liège possesses a history, heritage, and diversity that make it a remarkable crossroads for exchange. Hosting events of this magnitude boosts the city's profile and creates opportunities for our artists, businesses, and community organizations, while affirming its status as a European metropolis open to the world.

As a Belgian Senator, I am convinced that culture is a powerful driver of dialogue, social cohesion, economic development, and closer ties between Africa and Europe. Supporting those who create, innovate, and pass on their knowledge is also a way of preparing for the future.

I extend my heartfelt thanks to Ms. Olga Matumona Kembi and her entire team for their trust and commitment. It is my hope that this initiative will continue to grow and, over the years, establish itself as an international benchmark for African artistic excellence.
